This document gives brief overview of implementation of the Gradient Descent approach using a small dataset in Python.

The dataset here consists of no. of hours students studied before exam and their corresponding scores in that exam.

We can demonstrate a simple flow of Gradient Descent techniques by defining the plotting function for visualizing how a better-fit line can be achieved in successive steps to achieve the minimum error objective.